

FORWARD-LOOKING CIO AT YOUR SERVICE

WIN IN BUSINESS STRATEGY WITH A C-LEVEL TECHNOLOGIST IN YOUR LEADERSHIP TEAM

What if you can use technology as the power to stand out from your competition? What if you can automate much of your routine tasks and focus on advancing what really matters? What if you can reduce your manpower and resource-consuming expenses to get the same or better results? The reason many businesses remain stale is because they cannot see what technology can do for them. Techellence has Chief Information Officers (CIO) with knowledge leading 800+ technology experts across the globe in Fortune 100 companies, who can guide you through the process. This service is included when you work with Techellence. We have your technology covered.

YOUR TECHNICAL BUSINESS STRATEGIST

A Chief Information Officer (CIO) is essential for growing companies because they provide strategic direction and oversight for the company's technology initiatives. As businesses expand, the complexity of their IT infrastructure and the need for robust cybersecurity measures increase. A CIO ensures that technology investments align with business goals, optimizes operational efficiency, and drives innovation. They play a critical role in managing digital transformation, enhancing data-driven decision-making, and maintaining a competitive edge in the market. Their leadership ensures that technology not only supports but propels the company's growth. You need the guidance of CIOs in your executive planning, decisions, and executions to grow.

SPEAK YOUR LANGUAGE

The primary function of a C-level leader is to maximize profitability while reducing losses. You need a technical person who is also a business expert. The principal of Techellence holds a Ph.D. in Business Administration and Management and has enabled success in multiple businesses, increasing profits by upwards of $53M and reducing losses of more than $600k.

FORWARD THINKING

We are not your janitor IT that fixes broken things. We proactively maintain your IT environment, but that is only the baseline. We are engineers and automators at heart and will look for ways to differentiate you in the market. You don't need to be the next Blockbuster Videos, remaining stale like your competitors.

CYBERSECURITY EXPERT (CISO)

In today's environment, you need another C-level leader to protect you from security breaches. As your company grows more profitable, it becomes the bull's eye for money-hungry malignant actors. A Chief Information Security Officer, or CISO, must protect your valuable data and maintain compliance with external oversight. Techellence provides you with C-level protection by default, and you can focus on driving your business without worries of loss.

PROFESSIONALLY MANAGED IT

Unlock the full potential of your business with our comprehensive IT Management. You don't need an IT staff to run your business—save your resources building them up! Designed to provide proactive, round-the-clock support, our services ensure your technology infrastructure runs smoothly and efficiently, allowing you to focus on what you do best.

QUARTERLY IN-PERSON MEETINGS

Quarterly meetings between your IT service provider and company leadership are more than just a routine check-in; they are a strategic tool for ensuring your technology investments drive business success. A qualified Techellence CIO will meet with you and your leadership team to address challenges, develop solutions, and realize your vision, all by leveraging cutting-edge technology.

BIG AND UNPRECEDENTED PROJECTS—NO PROBLEM!

The Techellence team will guide you through every step of your technology projects, regardless of size. As passionate engineers, we are dedicated to delivering the solutions you need. We will coordinate with your vendors and team members, providing regular updates on project status and potential risks to your leadership. With our support, you'll confidently tackle complex projects, no matter how uncertain they may seem. Basic project management and ideation are integral components of every business package we offer.

WE ARE MORE THAN YOUR TECHNICAL BUSINESS STRATEGIST. TECHELLENC ALSO OFFERS:
